Community Leaders Win UCSF Medal

Robert Joy Glaser, MD, Ellen Magnin Newman, Seymour M. Farber, MD, Lucile P. Leone, RN, MA, and Malcolm S.M. Watts, MD, have been given the highest award of the campus—the UCSF Medal—in recognition of their contributions to health education, community health care and public service.

Glaser is former dean of the School of Medicine and vice president of Health Affairs at Stanford, and has been president and chief executive officer of the Henry J. Kaiser Family Foundation for the past decade. He was honored for his vision in helping to establish several UCSF programs, including the Joint Program in Bioethics which has led to a brand new Division of Medical Ethics.

Newman, president of Ellen Newman Associates, is a noted civic and business leader in San Francisco who serves on the boards of a number of corporations. She is vice chair of the UCSF Foundation and a director of the UCSF Radiology Research and Education Foundation.

Farber, vice chancellor emeritus for UCSF Public Programs and Continuing Education, served as vice chancellor from 1973 to 1978. He is widely known for his expertise in diseases of the chest and his pioneering work in the field of postgraduate education for health professionals.

Leone came to UCSF as a Regents Lecturer in 1966 after "retiring" from a long and distinguished nursing career, including 18 years as the country's top nurse—chief nurse officer and Assistant Surgeon General in the US Public Health Service. She was coordinator of International Students and Visitors for the UCSF School of Nursing from 1977 to 1982.

Watts, a specialist in internal medicine, has been on the faculty of UCSF since 1947. He is now associate dean of the School of Medicine and project director for the California Statewide Area Health Education Center System (AHEC).

Rentals Needed

UCSF is having difficulty locating housing for its students, faculty and staff. Rentals are needed including private rooms, studios, apartments, flats and houses—permanent rentals and sublets. If you have any rentals available, please contact the UCSF Housing Office at 666-1426, Monday to Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

150 Tested for PCB

Some 150 people concerned about their possible exposure to PCB during the May 15 fire at One Market Plaza have been screened at the Occupational Health Clinic at SFGH.

None of the people had significant symptoms that could be associated with PCB exposure, according to UCSF's Charles Becker, MD, chief of the Division of Occupational Medicine at SFGH. Some people suffered skin, eye and throat irritation due to other gases in the fire.

LRDP/Poly High Meetings

Members of the neighborhood and the campus community attended two informational meetings on June 7 regarding the Poly High School site, the proposed Vision Research Center, and the recent parking restrictions imposed in the neighborhood by the City.

According to Tom Rollinson, associate administrative vice chancellor, the SF School District has suggested that the campus purchase the Poly High site, rather than lease it, for housing. However, he said, the campus will continue to pursue a lease agreement because of prior commitments to the neighborhood. Current preliminary plans, based on studies of economic feasibility, call for demolition of the present structure and development of a project with up to 450 housing units for UCSF faculty, students and staff, plus 600 to 800 parking spaces.

Recreational or other public service facilities, which would be shared by the campus and the neighborhood, would be provided if funds were available, he declared.

Steven Kramer, MD, chair of the UCSF Department of Ophthalmology, reported on the types of research activities the proposed new Vision Research Center would conduct in connection with advancements in patient care for persons with eye disorders of all sorts. The project architect and an environmental impact report consultant also reported on the preliminary proposed site of the building.

Environmental impact reports will be prepared for both the Poly High and Vision Research Center projects. A "scoping meeting" for the proposed Vision Research Center will be conducted by the firm of Planning, Analysis and Development on Thursday, July 14, at 7:30 p.m. in Toland Hall, to explain the EIR process and solicit community suggestions on issues they feel the EIR should address. For further information call 666-3206.

Leake Day—A Success

Some 400 members of the campus community and neighborhood participated in a colorful Chauncey Leake Day on May 26 with the UCSF Marching Band, a stretcher race, plant sale, picnic and an afternoon lecture by Nobel Laureate Melvin Calvin, PhD.

Prizes were given for best costumes, fastest team and overall winners in the stretcher relay race. In addition, a special exhibit highlighting Leake's life was on display in the lobby of Medical Sciences.

The day honored the well-known scientist and founder of the UCSF Department of Pharmacology, who died in 1978. He was often seen on campus planting a flower or stooping to pick up scraps of paper. He made significant contributions in the field of pharmacology and also was known as a public speaker, writer and poet.

"Magnet" Hospitals

UCSF's Moffitt and Long are "magnet" hospitals, according to a study released by the American Academy of Nursing.

The study, called "Magnet Hospitals: Attraction and Retention of Professional Nurses," is based on interviews with nursing directors and staff nurses from 41 hospitals across the US—13 of them in the West. The hospitals were chosen because nurses consider them good places to work, as evidenced by their low vacancy and turnover rates.

The study found several common threads among magnet hospitals: highly qualified nursing directors who support and listen to their staffs, a decentralized management structure that allows nurses to make decisions, competitive salaries and benefits, flexible work schedules, opportunities for education and promotion and a strong feeling of professional pride.

In addition to UCSF, the California hospitals named in the study were Alta Bates, Berkeley, El Camino, Mountain View and Stanford Medical Center.

UCSF Graduates Over 600

Some 600 students graduated from UCSF during commencement ceremonies in May and June including:

- 146 physicians with 27 adult and child psychiatrists
- 225 nurses
- 104 dentists
- 103 pharmacists
- 44 PhDs in medicine, sociology, nursing, pharmacy and physiology
- 60 specialists in mental health, dental hygiene, physical therapy and clinical psychology.

Major student award winners were Karl Case Klontz of Washington, DC—the School of Medicine Gold-Headed Cane; Cynthia J. Eggers of South Gate—the Florence Nightingale Award; Diana Gomez of San Francisco—the Outstanding Master of Science Award; and Hiroko Minami of Japan—the Distinguished Dissertation Award, all of the School of Nursing; Rodney Sterling Lee of San Francisco—the School of Dentistry Francis A. Sooy Chancellor's Cup; and Stewart K. Akahoshi of Los Angeles—the School of Pharmacy Bowl of Hygeia.

Help for Young Rape Victims

Young women ages 14 to 17 who have been victims of rape are invited to participate in an ongoing support group, sponsored by the Child and Adolescent Sexual Abuse Resource Center (CASARC) at SFGH.

The group, which began in June, meets every Wednesday from 4 to 5:30 p.m. on the seventh floor of SFGH, 1001 Potrero Avenue, Room 7E2. CASARC counselors Cindy Wyatt and Rosa Florez-Hart help victims work through unresolved feelings of anger, confusion, depression and loneliness.

Young women interested in attending should contact CASARC in advance at 821-8386. All information will remain confidential.
